A message from our president

Fröhlichen Frühling! Happy Spring! I look at the last 3 months and am so impressed with our accomplishments, and the bright future that is ahead. First and foremost, a "Thank You" to our membership for your ongoing support and participation. We must keep participation strong in order for the club to keep going full steam ahead. How can our membership help? Recruit new members! As we look ahead, we need to keep our club and traditions alive. It takes a village to do this. I encourage all members to bring a friend, or two, or three to a meeting. There is no commitment to join, but the goal is to get more people exposed to The Deutscher Verein and what our mission is in the community. During my time as President over the next 2 years, I want to increase our membership and really get all of our members involved in our activities throughout the year. I believe we all can agree we have quite a bit of fun at our meetings and events.

Speaking of new members, we are excited to announce the following who signed up to join the club at the March 2023 meeting:

- Steven J. Blessinger
- Joseph Fierst
- Jeanette Hale
- Kathy Hunt

Sehr geehrte Damen und Herren,

Danke for the overwhelmingly positive feedback to last month's Worträtsel (word puzzle)! This month, we will explore the topic of das Haus.

To enter the Haus, the first thing is to go through the Haustür. Let's be polite when entering someone else's Haus - we can either klingseln or klopfen on the Haustür. Once we are drinnen, we can look back draussen through the Fenster. The Fenster is made of Glas. Don't werfen the Ball while you are drinnen - you'll brechen the Fenster. However, you should always werfen your Müll away into the Mülleimer. If you don't, then your Mutter or Vater will be upset that you didn't aufräumen your mess.

Some of the Zimmer in your Haus are the Wohnzimmer, the Küche, Esszimmer, Badezimmer, and Schlafzimmer. The Wohnzimmer is where you sitzen on the Sofa and watch shows on the Fernseher. The Küche is where you kochen your Essen (noun) in the Ofen, then you take the Essen (noun) into the Esszimmer, put it on the Esstisch and then you can essen (verb). The Badezimmer is where you do your business on the Toilette and if you're dirty, you can get into the Badewanne and baden yourself. Hopefully, your Schwester or Bruder aren't taking too long in there! Now it's late and you need to schlafen - you can do that in the nice, warm Bett in your Schlafzimmer. Gute Nacht!

Now, let's see how well you do. Which words did you pick up?

A Portion of Mike Humbert's Presentation on Genealogy at the March Meeting

The following information was taken from Mike Humbert's presentation featuring the Dubois County Genealogical Society. (It was in PowerPoint format and I have edited it for this newsletter. PMG)

Find your life history and your ancestors at the Dubois County Library and The Dubois County Genealogical Society located in the Dubois County Museum. We should be your first connection to your ancestral heritage.

Let's do a test about your ancestral knowledge.

How many of you currently have a family tree with at least 4 generations of ancestors listed? Please share them with us.

Do you know the maiden names of your grandmothers' surname?

Do your grandkids know their grandmother's (your) maiden name?

If you said no to any of these questions

YOU MAY NEED SOME HELP! The Dubois County Genealogical Society would like to help you!

Our mission statement is to collect, preserve, and share Genealogy information. We Are a 501c3 nonprofit organization. Organization started in 1992. We have 200 plus members. Membership fees are $15/yr or $18/yr/couple. Built a room in the Museum in 2020 Covid year. We have three computers connected to high-speed internet. Have over 1600 books and files of ancestral information on site. Family trees on computer consisting of over 851,000 names. Have published 26 books, cemeteries, births, marriage, deaths. Have The Herald (actual papers) back to April 1858.

We have an Advanced Family Search License--- Additional 214 million records. Send out newsletters 4 time/yr. and have a Christmas party. Like us on Face book @Dubois County Genealogical Society. We are here to help you.

We can help with first time or advanced family tree research questions and with family tree program on your computer or internet. We can even help with loading your tree onto your smart phone

Search the internet for genealogy information
 FamilySearch.com 8 billion records
 MyHeritage.com 6.3 billion
 Ancestry.com 30 million names
 DNA 18 million DNA's
 Findagrave.com 210 million graves
 Newspapers.com 21,600 + papers

Billiongraves.com 38 million graves

Many others

The 1950 census was released in April 2022.

Biographies and Autobiographies are like icing on a cake.

1st Interview the oldest people in your family tree and write their biography. (Prepare a list of questions before the interview to keep the conversation going; we have a suggested list here)

2nd Write your own autobiography.

3rd Interview the younger people in your family tree.

4th Use modern technology apps on your phone or computer to record conversations and even type out the conversation as you speak.

Use apps like, Google Docs, Microsoft Word, and many other apps and programs. We can help you with all of this

You can find birth certificates, grade school pictures. Registration card, army pictures, etc. The search never has to end.

We have produced books about local information on births, baptisms, marriages, deaths, cemetery indexes, and all are available for sale.

How can you join us in our mission?

Stop in and see us in the Dubois County Museum located in Jasper, IN. Open hours are Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday. (Same hours of operation as the museum)

Bring your problems and questions.

We would be honored to input your family tree in our records. (Adding to the current 851,139 names).

We can always use more members and volunteers to work. While visiting us, please enjoy the museum also! Visit the Library Genealogy Room also.

The only bad question is the one you don't ask. We can help you with proper sourcing of your records. Get a gravesite posted to Findagrave.com. We can now GPS a tombstone on Find-a-Grave.

Use a DNA kit and most of all "manage the results". We do not replace any genealogy in the library.

Clean up, colorize, and "animate photos". Make a "live story" of your ancestors.

Jasper Deutscher Verein Gesangverein

Do you like to sing? We are starting a German Club Choir.

The initial goal for the choir is to lead the National Anthem and the birthday song at meetings. Nancy Litteken has agreed to organize the group. Maybe in the future, the Deutscher Verein Gesangverein might lead the club in some Christmas Carols at the December meeting. Things might grow from there but they might also just stay the same.

Thanks to the following people who have already signed up to be part of the group: Nancy Litteken, Al Bennett, Nancy & Van Ziegler, Dave Gudorf, Birnie Jeffries and Kevin Mullen.

To be part of this group, contact Nancy by email at litteken@twc.com.

John Milton coined more English words than anyone else.

The English language is the result of thousands of years of collaboration and evolution. Although its Germanic roots provide core function words, English is filled with loanwords from more than 350 languages. Of course, the language has also been blessed by many writers and poets whose inventive vocabularies fill our dictionaries — and no one is as etymologically prolific as the English poet John Milton. His most famous work, "Paradise Lost" (an epic poem retelling the biblical allegory of Adam and Eve), is considered to be one of the finest pieces of English literature, but Milton has another claim to fame as the writer who coined the most English words. During his 65 years on Earth, Milton created 630 new words and phrases, including "debauchery," "fragrance," and "pandemonium" (the latter from the name of Hell's capital city in "Paradise Lost").

Although Milton leads the pack, he does have some stiff competition. For example, William Shakespeare has slightly fewer than 500 word coinages to his name, by some counts. Meanwhile, the English polymath and author Thomas Browne is credited with 771 "first use" words (such as "carnivorous," "hallucination," and "ferocious") by the Oxford English Dictionary, although that doesn't necessarily mean he invented them. Most scholars believe Browne and Shakespeare's "new word" contributions are much lower than Milton's, although the history of language is tricky — it's extremely difficult to know if a writer created a new word from scratch or was simply the first to use an already existing word. Other writers who've made sizable contributions include Geoffrey Chaucer, John Donne, and Ben Jonson. (taken from www.interestingfacts.com)
